

01 — HERO

YĀYĀVARA

Furniture designed to move with you.

A modular flat-pack furniture system designed for frequent movers, combining the essentials of a temporary home into one transportable set.

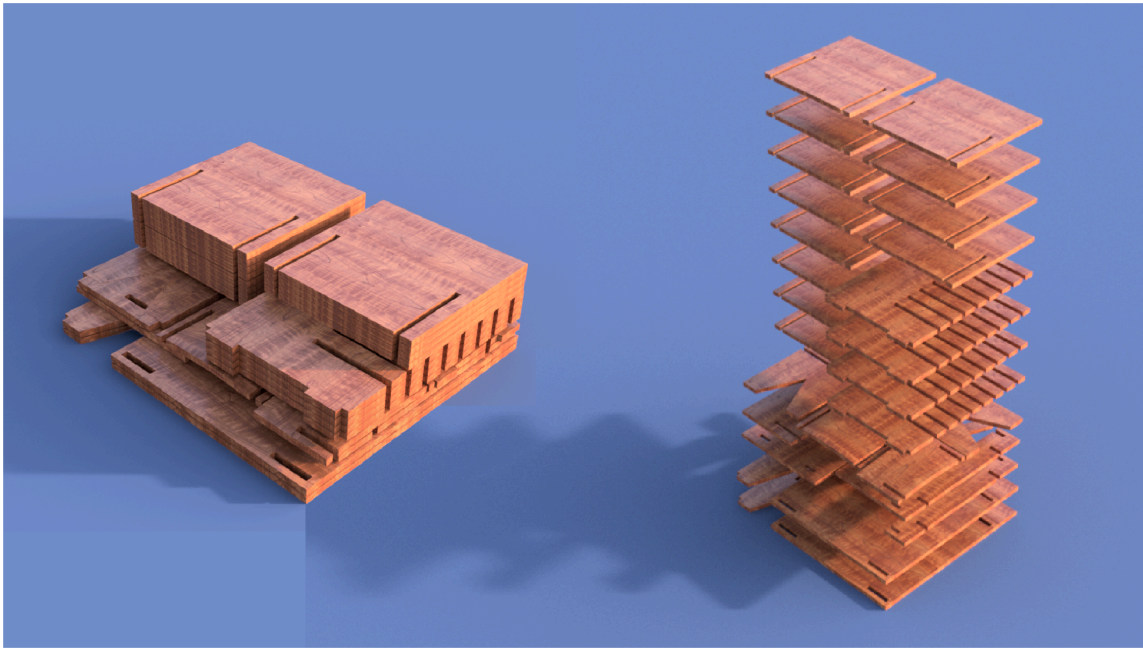

BRIEF

A furniture system for people who relocate frequently, where everyday furniture needs to be easy to assemble, dismantle, transport and store.

03 — OVERVIEW

A complete setup that packs down when life moves.

The system uses a common construction language across four essential pieces, allowing them to function as everyday furniture while consolidating into a compact package for relocation.

And approximate packed dimensions of 6" x 50" x 50"

04 — PRODUCT / SYSTEM

One system. Four essentials.

BED

A single-occupant bed designed to provide a stable sleeping platform without permanent construction.

WORK

A table and chair combination designed to create a compact everyday workspace.

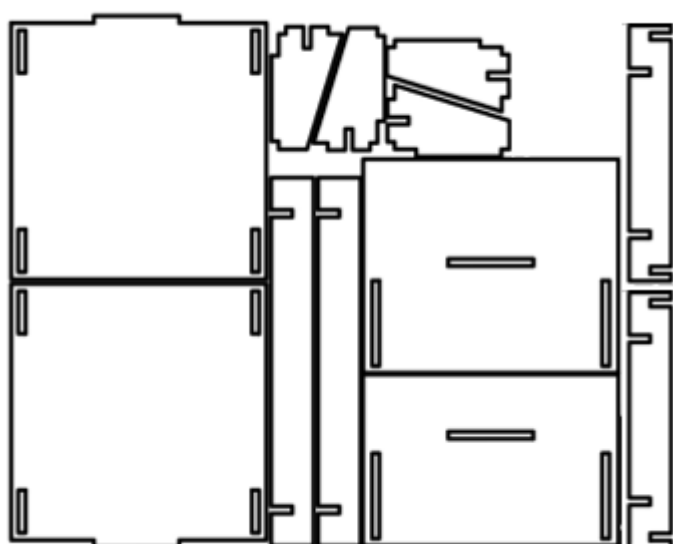

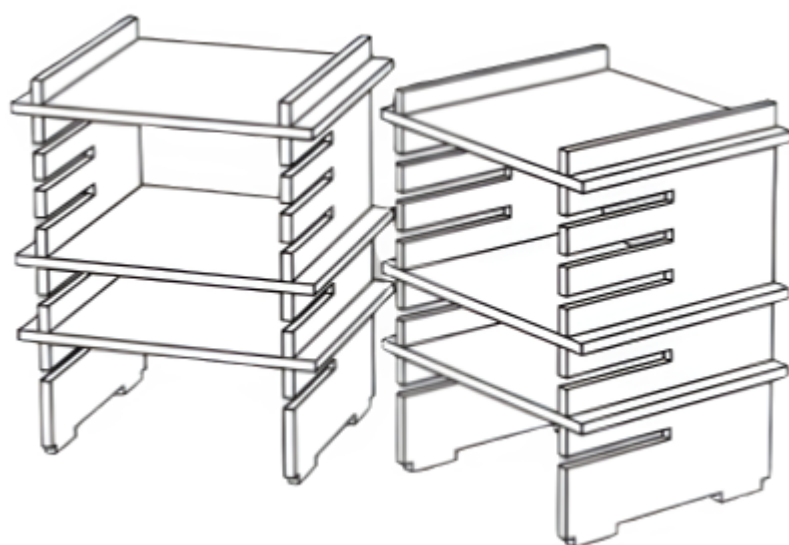

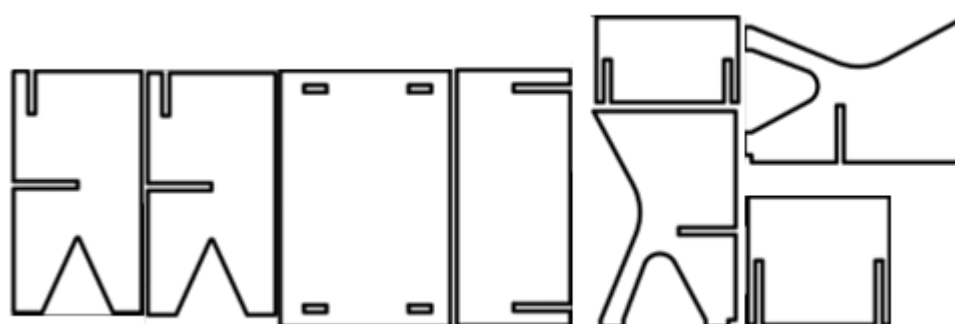

STORAGE

A modular shelving system that can function as one larger unit or be divided into smaller racks.

MOVE

All components are designed to be dismantled and consolidated for transport.

Large when living. Compact when moving. Yāyāvara treats relocation as part of the furniture experience, so each piece is designed to work as a full-size everyday product while breaking down into a manageable set of components. This led to a shared slot-joint construction system where the structure itself becomes the assembly mechanism, eliminating the need for conventional hardware.

The same construction language carries across the bed, workspace, and storage, while the components are arranged to consolidate efficiently when dismantled. The result is a furniture system where form, fit, and function are shaped by the same idea: furniture that works just as well when it is being lived with as when it is being moved.
